TIES 2 AND 2 AND LOSES 1 AND 0

VISITORS SCORE ONLY TALLY
MADE IN SUNDAY GAME.

Lacomb Holds Grayling 7 Innings
Without Hit.

After several unsuccessful times to get teams to come to Grayling to play ball, Bay City finally sent up a bunch of fast players to match out team for games last Saturday and Sunday.

Late train Saturday made the game pretty late in getting started that day and it was nearly 5:00 p. m. before the game was called. It was a pretty fast game for a while until it got so dark that it was hard to see the ball and had to be called in the fifth inning. At that time the score was a tie—2 to 2. Arthur Karpus pitched for the home team.

The Sunday Game.

The Sunday game was a real one and fast from start to finish and resulted in victory for the visitors by a score of 1 to 0.

1st Inning.

Innsley was first up for Grayling and went out on a high fly in front of plate to catcher. Milnes was out on a line drive to center. Karpus was out on an infield hit to third.

2nd Inning.

Duso was thrown out by Johnson. Lacomb was hit on knee by pitcher. King ran for him. Tanney fanned. Innsley made a fine catch of Cady's line drive.

"Dago" flied to left. Burke was out on grounder to 2nd. Johnson struck out.

3rd Inning.

Desy hit a Texas leaguer to left. Malafant sacrificed advancing Desy. King went out on a liner to Innsley. Dosine was out on fly to catcher.

B. Lawrent was out on grounder to 3rd. Hull flied to center. Doroh walked and was caught off base.

4th Inning.

Traxler was thrown out by pitcher. Duso fanned. Lacomb singled to the right. Tanney fanned.

Innsley, Milnes and Karpus fanned. 5th Inning.

Cady beat out a hit in front of the plate. Desy got on by a fielder's choice and Cady was out by interfering with the batted ball. Malafant was thrown out by Karpus at 1st and Milnes pegged Desy at 3rd.

"Dago" flied to left. Burke was thrown out by pitcher and Johnson fanned.

6th Inning.

King got on by hit thru short, the ball bouncing off "Dago's" glove. Dosine was out on fly to first. Slow work in gathering up Traxler's hit in front of plate and slow throw to first let him on. Johnson's peg to 3rd to catch King had him a mile but "Dago" muffed the ball, giving him the first error of the game. Johnson got himself out of a tight hole by fanning Duso and Lacomb.

B. Lawrent fanned. Hull flied to left field. Doroh was hit by pitcher. Innsley was out on a liner to 1st.

7th Inning.

Tanney fanned. Cady was thrown out by Karpus. Desy was thrown out by "Dago."

Milnes, Karpus and "Dago" struck out.

8th Inning.

Malafant was thrown out by Innsley. King got on by a Texas leaguer to left. Burke muffed Dosine fly to right but threw out King at 2nd. Traxler was out on fly to pitcher.

Burke grounded to King. Johnson struck out. B. Lawrent hit the ball to deep center for three bases. Hull went out—Dosine to King.

9th Inning.

Duso went out on bounder to Innsley. Lacomb singled thru 2nd. Tanney popped out to "Dago." Innsley caught Cady's fly.

Doroh got on by a clean single to left. Innsley fanned. Close went to bat for Milnes and drew a walk. Karpus forced Doroh at 3rd. "Dago" singled and was forced at second by Burke.

SOLDIERS-SAILORS HOME WELCOME

CITIZENS OF COUNTY WILL HONOR THEIR SONS LABOR DAY.

Plans for Biggest Patriotic Celebration Progressing.

The committees serving for the celebration of the return home of the Soldiers and Sailors met in the Club rooms Tuesday for conference and we wish to assure the public that everything is progressing finely, and indications are apparent that nothing will be omitted that will make this day an honorable one in the history of Crawford County.

The committee feels that too much cannot be done to honor our young men who have served our country so well, and stood protectors over our homes and our loved ones.

To our soldier and sailor friends the committee wish to request that should by any possible oversight they fail to receive a personal invitation to attend the "Welcome home" on Labor day, that they not let this stop them from coming—every fellow who served in Grayling that day. Also any soldiers or sailors that do not happen to be from Crawford county, will be heartily welcome—all come.

Upon arrival all service men are requested to register at the office of the County Clerk Frank Sales at the court house, and receive their instructions for the day.

The day's program will be well filled, and attractions will await all who attend that will make the day a happy one. The base ball game will be free to everyone; also the dancing which will be held in the big school gymnasium. An impression has gone out that all meals would be furnished free that day to everyone, which of course would be impossible. All soldiers and sailors will be furnished meal coupons that are good at any eating place in the city.

TAR EXPLOSION DAMAGES DECKROW'S VULCANIZING PLANT.

A barrel, partly filled with tar, exploded at the Deckrow Vulcanizing plant Wednesday about noon, and caused considerable damage.

The accident occurred when F. R. Deckrow was drawing a pail of tar out of the barrel and desiring to see how much tar there was in the barrel he lit a match and the gases set fire to the tar in the pail. He hastily threw a blanket over the fire and in doing so the tar in the barrel caught fire. He attempted to smother the fire in the barrel and tipped it up on one end and immediately there was an explosion which blew out the heads of the barrel and scattered fire about the room.

This set fire to some of the material and a conflagration was soon in full progress. The fire was extinguished by aid of the city chemical engine. The damage amounted to about $200, which was mostly in material and supplies. The vulcanizing machinery was not damaged to any extent. The building, which belongs to John Benson, was slightly damaged.

WANTS OWNERS TO LIST FARM LANDS FOR SALE.

That people outside of Michigan are becoming more and more interested in lands of this State is evidenced by the numerous inquiries received for improved, semi-improved and cut-over lands by the Agricultural Department of the Michigan Central railroad according to information received from W. H. Hill, Agricultural Agent for the Michigan Central R. R., LaSalle Street Station, Chicago.

"Almost every day we get inquiries from men in all sections of the United States who want to have detailed and specific information from my department regarding lands of all kinds suitable for anything from a chicken farm to general farming and ranch lands, says Mr. Hill. However, he further states, it is exceedingly difficult to give just the line of information the inquirer wants due to the fact that we do not have a good reliable list of farms which are for sale to which the prospective purchaser might be referred.

"We have nothing to sell," says Mr. Hill and wish only to act as a medium whereby the prospect may get in touch with the man who has what he, the prospect, wants to purchase. A much better service of this nature could be given if men who have farms for sale would supply us with a description of their property to have on file and for answering the inquirer. "Anyone desiring to file their property on this list with the department may do so without cost."

IF THIN AND NERVOUS, TRY PHOSPHATE

Building Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

When one stops to consider the host of thin people who are searching continually for some method by which they may increase their flesh to normal proportions by the filling out of their hollows, the rounding out of protruding angles with the attendant bloom of health and attractiveness, it is no wonder that many varied questions along this line appear from time to time in public print.

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals it is a well-known fact that the lack of sufficient phosphorus in the human system is a very largely responsible for this condition. Experiments on humans and animals by many scientists have demonstrated beyond question that a body deficient in phosphorus becomes nervous, sickly and thin. A noted author and professor in his book, "Chemistry and Food Nutrition," published in 1918, says: "It is the amount of phosphorus required for the normal nutrition of man is seriously underestimated in many of our standard text books."

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may now be met by the use of an organic phosphate known throughout England as Bitro-Phosphate. Through the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue the phosphoric content when absorbed in the amount normally required by nature soon produces a welcome change in our bodies. Nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy, and the whole body soon loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION:—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

Old, but Ever New.
A preacher at the close of his sermon said: "Let all in the house who are paying their debts stand up. Presently every man, woman and child, with one exception, rose to their feet. The preacher seated them and said: "Now every man not paying his debts stand up." The exception, a careworn, hungry-looking individual, clothed in his last summer's suit, slowly assumed a perpendicular position.

"How is it, my friend," asked the minister, "you are the only man not able to meet his obligations?"

"I run a newspaper," he answered, "and the brethren here who stood up are my subscribers, and—"

A Michigan Case
Mrs. Wm. Polyvean, 610 N. Second St., Lansing, Mich., says: "About a year ago I was suffering from weakness in my back, felt tired out and languid all the time. I had no ambition to go about my house-work and my kidneys were so sore, annoyed, specks floated before my eyes and blurred my sight. I tried all sorts of spells, too. Three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of the trouble and soon relieved me."

DISTRESS AMONG THE POOR CLASSES OF SALONIKI

Among the poorer classes of Saloniki and the rest of the Balkan towns typhus found easy victims. These people, as our photograph shows, negligent as to personal cleanliness, unable to get even changes of clothing due to great lack of money, were practically at the mercy of the disease.

"BIG FOUR" ROOSTERS AID GOOD ROADS CAUSE

The celebrated "Big Four" roosters, purchased in France and presented to Alabama by President Wilson, Clarendon, Lloyd George and Orlando in aid of good roads in the United States. These aristocratic birds were auctioned off as aid to the raising of a sum of $250,000 for this purpose. There is also in the photograph an American bird that Mr. Wilson purchased for $10 and "threw in" the contribution.

RESCUING THE DROWNING

Capt. Frederick C. Mills, field agent of the American Red Cross, and naval aviators at various points have been giving demonstrations on the swimming machines to spread the knowledge of Red Cross methods of rescuing persons almost drowned. The photograph shows the "lock hold," applied to a person rescued from the water.

To Recover Sunken Logs.

To recover from the bottom of Canadian streams the sunken logs that are lost while on the way from the logging camps to the mills a newly organized corporation will employ machinery specially adapted to the purpose. Instead of the ordinary devices used for moving timber, it was announced in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Compressed air and high pressure water streams will be used to loosen the logs. As 10 per cent of the logs cut sink and remain embedded for various periods without losing their value by deterioration, the business of raising them should prove to be one of great commercial importance to lumbermen.

Quite So.

"If there's anything in the beauty nap theory, that long sleep ought to make anybody beautiful."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Their Supply.
"I suppose the men who were fighting in Champagne never ran the risk of running out of ammunition."

"Why should they?"
"Wasn't there plenty of grapeshot there?"

Sweet Potato.
It is not known certainly who introduced the sweet potato plant or when. Some authorities believe it to be of East Indian origin, but others more likely hold that it was a native of tropical America.

Useful as Well as Cheap.
Automobile oil is inexpensive, and useful for many household purposes; one drop will relieve a squeaking door hinge or a heavy running sewing machine; wipe it off with absorbent cotton.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

COULD HAVE BEEN WORSE
Hostess Saw Reason for Thankfulness in View Set Forth by Her Young Visitor.

Out on the east side the other afternoon a group of women were having a porch party. Now, all except one were married, and the married ones constantly talked to the one young spinster on the subject of getting married. They even went so far as to suggest some candidate for her hand. And of one the young woman said, "Oh, he wouldn't do. He's been married, and I've not yet reached that stage where I have to take a widower."

Another, whose name followed that remark, with a wild start the girl realized that three of the women present, including the hostess, were second wives. She was just beginning to reach the most painful stage of embarrassment, when the hostess laughed easily, and tried to utter a remark that would put everybody at ease. "Think goodness you haven't," she said. "Otherwise you might be in my shoes and I in yours."—Indianapolis News.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

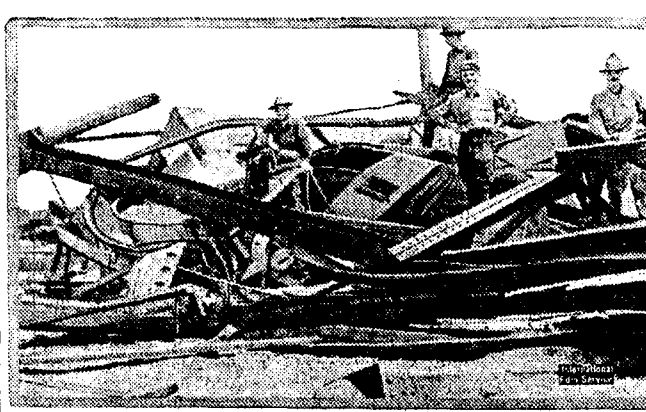

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

Neutralized Poison Gas.
"Neutralizing ointment" is one of the latest war inventions. It is publicly revealed in an official description of the protective devices against gas attacks, issued to our troops. The mask, with its contained chemicals for neutralizing any poisonous fumes that creep in is familiar. But one so-called gas is a liquid and because of its blistering effect the soldiers have given it the name of "mustard gas."

When an area is drenched with the stuff the menace may persist for many days. The peril is not from the liquid itself. Mustard gas bubbles through the clothing and makes painful wounds where the flesh is reached. The newly invented ointment must not apparently be rubbed all over the body, as well as on face and hands, to protect the soldier when the enemy's bursting shells are spraying this horrible gas about.

Mrs. George Alexander won the first prize in "500" and Mrs. Henry Bauman won the second prize.

Mr. Joseph Germain, a newspaper man of Detroit, boasts of the fact that he caught four trout at Lovells in about three hours this forenoon. No doubt had he given some young kid a quarter he would have caught for him a creel full in less than half the time. Germain may be able to quote Shakespeare by the column, but he should know that Brook trout will not rise for such talk. Got to hold your mouth just right in order to catch the speckled beauties.

Several nice improvements are being made at the Fish hatchery this season, along the line of building additional ponds. At this time six new ponds are under construction but it is not certain whether or not they can be completed this season, but it is hoped to do so more storage room for fish is needed. During the season just over for planting, the following trout fry have been planted in the several streams in this part of the state: Brook trout, 2,709,000; Brown trout, 178,000; and Rainbow trout, 532,000, making a total of 3,417,000 trout that this hatchery has planted this season. The Hatchery club hopes to be able to hatch and plant five million more next season. The trout streams in this section of the state are showing marked improvement in trout fishing, due, no doubt, to the excellent work done by the Grayling hatchery.

CINDERELLA IN FLOWERLAND.

Temple theatre was packed to the doors Wednesday night to witness the children's operetta, "Cinderella in Flowerland." There was the keenest appreciation on the part of the audience of the play from the start to finish.

The play of Cinderella is familiar to almost everyone. Instead of having ladies and knights, "flowers" took their places, impersonated by some of Grayling's attractive young girls. Besides these there were Sunbeams, Raindrops, and Butterflies played by the little ones.

The scenes were exceptionally beautiful, made so by the pretty crepe paper costumes worn by the players, and the singing, dancing and drills by the children were remarkably interesting and clever. Everything went off like clock work. The splendid success of the play is due to the efforts of Mrs. T. W. Hanson who drilled the children.

Following are those taking part: Cinderella ..... Janet Matson Prince Sunshine ..... Owen Cameron Godmother Nature Mrs. H. W. Wolff Proud Sisters, Christine Salling and Pauline Fehr

Robin Red ..... Emerson Brown Bonnie Bee ..... Jimmie Jameson Violet ..... Kathryn Brown Pansy ..... Beulah Colleen Buttercup ..... Eleanor Schumann Mignonette ..... Ruth McCullough Sweet Brier ..... Ruth Strope Lily Bell ..... Dorothy Peterson Narcissus ..... Vella Herman Sweet Pea ..... Fern Hum Daffodil ..... Lena Belle Struble

Butterflies—Helen Schumann, Margrethe, Ella and Virginia Hanson. Raindrops—Clarence Morfit, Edwin Morfit, Milton Hathaway, Carlyle Brown, Erik Rosenstand and Alfred Doty.

Sunbeams—Annabelle Brenner, Ellen Gothro, Margaret Warren, Mary Esther Schumann, Helen Jane Behlke, Pauline Leitz, Camilla Hum, Elizabeth Matson and Helen Leitz.

Pleasing selections were rendered by Herbert Wolff and Will Lander, saxophones, and Miss Margaret Rennie, piano, before and after the play and between scenes. They were liberally applauded after every selection.

Immediately following the operetta the following pleasing program was given:

Selection ..... by Orchestra Butterfly Dance ..... Virginia Hanson Vocal Solo ..... Mrs. Weldon Warren Pianologues ..... Mrs. Herbert Wolff Vocal Solo ..... Mrs. Carl Michelson Piano Solo ..... Lucille Hanson

Articles Salvaged From Sunken Ships Found to Be Practically Unharmful by Action of Water.

Capt. Reginald Humphreys, of the British navy in speaking of the action of the sea on vessels and merchandise says:

"Wooden ships, after being sunk, are rapidly covered with a marine growth which forms a sort of time deposit and preserves the wood in some cases for several centuries. Sunk in the Pacific

By R. RAY BAKER

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

If Inza Richardson had been less quick tempered she would have missed being the heroine of a story that starts in San Francisco and ends in the South Pacific.

She regretted it five minutes after she uttered the words that sent Arthur Westridge away from her home, and she would have called after him and pleaded with him to return if he had not walked so swiftly down the street and if she had been able to thrust her pride into the background. While she hesitated he disappeared from view.

"He'll never come back," she told herself, and she went to her room and shut herself in. When a friend called the next morning to take her motor car Inza had a severe headache and could not see her.

It all started over nothing—nothing when the results were considered. Arthur was kept busy late one evening at the office of the Trans-Pacific ship office where he worked, and was half an hour behind time when he called to take Inza to the theater.

That was bad enough, Inza thought, but when it developed that he had failed to get tickets and she had to wait in the foyer while he stood in line before the box office, she felt that the limit had been reached.

When he had bought the tickets she made him tear them up and take her straight home, where a warm verbal battle, in which he took no part, occurred. It terminated when she took the engagement ring from her finger and handed it to him with the words:

"Don't ever show up here again. The idea of humiliating me as you did this evening! It shows how much you care for me. Good by."

Arthur went, because he had a temper of his own and was afraid he would unleash it if he remained. He felt she was unreasonable, because he had told her he was detained by business, but he complied with her wishes, or what she stated to be her wishes, and left her.

A week passed and Inza heard nothing from Arthur. By this time she was worrying. Her love for him could not be questioned, but there was her pride to consider. When that week terminated, however, with silence on the part of her erstwhile fiance, she crushed her pride ruthlessly under her heel and called up the office where he worked. It took a lot of bravery for her to ask for that number, but she did it.

"Mr. Westridge is not employed here any more," she was told over the wire. "He resigned his office position a week ago and took a berth as a sailor on the steamer John Richardson, which started the next day for Australia."

Inza was against this intelligence. "Why," she faltered, "why did he do that?"

She knew very well why he did it, because she knew Arthur. However, she listened to the reply:

"Said he was tired of being cooped up in an office, and wanted to get out in the air and see some real life and some foreign country."

Then a real cloud of despair settled over the Richardson residence. Inza lost her usually healthy appetite, and although she had no flesh to spare she became as "thin as a fence rail," as her father put it. She held no one to blame but herself, but that did not assuage the pain in her heart.

Inza watched the mail carrier every day from the time he entered sight around the corner until he either passed the Richardson home or mounted the porch; and he never found it necessary to use the mail box. Inza received what he had to offer, and always there was a feeling of deep disappointment gripping her when she entered the house.

The big crash came a month later, the crash that crumbled her spirit and sent her over the very brink of hope into the chasm through which flowed the river of sorrow. It was a headline that stared up at her from a newspaper:

"Steamer Richard Sinks in Storm; All Aboard Lost."

It happened in the south seas, so the story went. The British steamer Thurston answered the Richard's wireless S. O. S., and arrived on the scene just in time to see the distressed vessel go beneath the waves. That part of the ocean was searched as diligently as possible with the storm in progress, but not a survivor could be found.

Inza broke down completely and the doctor warned that severe illness was ahead for her unless she experienced a radical change. Her father offered to finance a voyage to Europe, but she said she cared nothing for a visit on that continent.

"Make it Australia, and I'll go," she said; and Mr. Richardson consented to it.

All Enjoyed the Tobacco.

The first tobacco and pipes which found their way to England were presented to Sir Walter Raleigh by Ralph Lane and Sir Francis Drake. With the novel curios in his pockets, Sir Walter bled, on a stormy night, to "Mermaid Tavern," favorite haunt of that famous coterie of poets and pals, Will Shakespeare, Ned Spenser, Ben Jonson, Beaumont, Fletcher, Selden.

He found these good fellows all there, as he knew he should, merrily wrapping yams and sipping ale, and forthwith distributed the pipes among them and initiated them into the mysteries of smoking. He was rewarded by having "Rare Ben" give him a toast in which tobacco was declared to be "the most soothing, sovereign, precious weed that ever our dear old mother earth tendered to the use of man."

Old Errors.

In the seventeenth century amongst the common errors which were believed was that a crystal was nothing but ice strongly congealed; that a diamond could be softened by the blood of a goat; that storks would only live this, proposing that her mother should accompany her. Inza demurred. "I want to go alone," she contended, and her father, after a few moments of silent debate with himself, said he would agree even to that, if only it would improve her health. However, he succeeded in arranging with another passenger on the same ship to keep Inza under close watch without her knowledge.

Fair weather was enjoyed until the Hawaiian islands were reached. Shortly after traversing that part of the sea the steamer encountered a severe storm, which grew more violent as the days passed. The ship was tossed on giant waves and even the veteran ocean travelers were indisposed.

Finally a warning was issued by the officers for every passenger to keep a life preserver on, awake or asleep. The precaution was well founded, for that very night the big ship was driven off her course and in the darkness hurled itself on a rock. She clung to the obstruction for two hours, which gave ample time for the lifeboats to be launched. The sea was running so high, however, that many of these were swamped before they could get any distance from the wrecked vessel.

Finally the steamer slipped from the rock, the sea poured into the hold through the hole that had been made, and one more craft joined the armada of sunken hulks on the bottom of the South Pacific.

Just how she got there Inza never knew, but she came out of a long period of unconsciousness to find herself lying high on a beach, whence she evidently had been cast by the waves. She was bedraggled and cold, her clothes having been drenched by the brine, while the life preserver about her was an oppressive weight. Nearby was a lifeboat, overturned, also high and dry on the shore.

Inza scanned the sea, which was almost calm. The sun was high in the heavens and the sky was clear. Looking back toward some low hills, her eyes caught a black speck which appeared to be moving. While she watched it grew larger and finally developed into the shape of a man.

But such a man! His hair fell in a tangled mass over his shoulders and his beard was long and kinky, while his clothing was in tatters.

"Don't run away; I'm harmless. Let me welcome you to Crusoe island. I named it myself. How do you like it?"

He came closer, and suddenly as he looked at her his eyes took a peculiar glitter. Wonder and astonishment shone from them, and he muttered incoherently. She stood, held powerless by his gaze, until he was almost upon her. Then:

"Inza!" he cried. "It can't—no, it can't be."

The voice sounded familiar. She scrutinized his face and slowly it took on some aspects that made him seem less like a stranger.

A piercing blast shook the island, and a steamer rounded the shore a short distance out. But just then Inza and Arthur were too busily occupied with each other to notice that rescue was close at hand.

VARIETY IN LIFE AT OMSK

Siberian City, However, Holds Out Little Inducement to the Timid, Pleasure-Seeking Traveler.

Omsk is a little city, or a big town—whatever you like—in Siberia. The buildings of Omsk keep close to the ground. The home of the settler is a one-story log affair. The public buildings and shops are ornate with pillars and carvings, but their grandeur extends upward little farther than the log hut, of which they are an elaboration.

Omsk has more than its share of lawbreaking and crime. The number of persons who die inopportunistly there is large enough to inspire some caution than bravado in one enjoying a nighttime walk through the lanes which pass for streets.

There is a jail in this rustic metropolis, but its inmates are as a rule, only the most recent malefactors, who have been so careless as to be apprehended by the wooden-shoed policemen who rattle about the streets at night to assure the city that the law is not sleeping. The majority of those who have resorted to violence or stealth to gain their ends are always at large.

Knowledge of this is not reassuring, but it adds to the stimulating atmosphere of the Siberian life to wonder whether the queer-looking shop clerk or waiter who serves you is a pillar of the church or the man who mysteriously made away with a fur trader the week before.—"Niksah," in Chicago Daily News.

Generous Freddie.

Deciding that he was tired of being scolded, Freddie informed his mother that he was going to run away. At this his mother began to pack a suitcase for him. Noticing her serious intentions he became alarmed and said: "Don't pack it now, mamma, I've decided to give you another chance."

In republics and free states; that men weighed heavier dead than alive; that there was no rainbow before the flood; and that the flesh of peacocks did not decay. The last-mentioned belief one would think was often easily disproved, but it is a common observation that very few people have seen a dead donkey and perhaps fewer a dead peacock. These vulgar errors have all been substituted by others—as that high wages bring about happiness, and that the best way to get a living is to go on strike every fortnight.

Imitations Are Dangerous.

AN OHIO druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."

To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. Your experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine? If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."

No mother with a spark of affection for her child will overlook the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when buying Castoria.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Mothers Must Use Care.

Why do we so often call your attention to imitations of Fletcher's Castoria? Because it is a baby's medicine and imitations are always dangerous, particularly imitations of a remedy for infants.

Your druggist may not keep an imitation but they are to be found on drug-store shelves. Reliable druggists think only of the welfare of their customers. The other kind only of the greater profit to be made on imitations.

Your own judgment tells you that Fletcher's Castoria having for over thirty years at great expense held up its reputation, must jealously guard it. Then, it follows that this company must use the very best of material. Must employ experts in the selection of the herbs. Must retain skilled chemists in its manufacture.

Your same good judgment must tell you that these irresponsible imitators are trading on your credulity and the reputation built up by Mr. Fletcher, during all these years, for his Castoria.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART; IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Harelem Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammation and destroys the germs which have caused it. Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Harelem Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning. After you feel somewhat improved continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep the first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

An Old Fault Finder.
An irritable and fault finding disposition is often caused by indigestion. A man with good digestion and bowels that act regularly is usually good natured. When troubled with indigestion or constipation take Chamberlain's tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels. Adv.

A Great Remedy.
The merits of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea remedy are well known and appreciated, but there is occasionally a man who had no acquaintance with them and should read the following by F. H. Dear, a hotel man at DuPuy, Mont. "Four years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea remedy with such wonderful results that I have since recommended it to my friends." Adv.

CRAWFORD COUNTY AGENTS COLUMN

C. W. Waid, Extension specialist in potatoes spent one day with the County Agent last week. This was a very short time but owing to lack of help due to the withdrawing of funds from the extension work it was all that could be spared to each County Agent.

Nine out of the twenty-six standardization seed plots were visited in the two counties. There was found considerable mixture in varieties, there hardly being a case where the seed had been all true to type. Also there were found several kinds of disease, black scurf, black leg, curly dwarf, and spindling sprout appearing in almost every field visited, although black scurf was noticeably scarce compared with last season. However these diseases were found prevalent to make it almost impossible for a farmer to plant seed taken from a bin without any seed selection the fall previous, and plant it without planting seed that came from a hill that had anywhere from one to three of these diseases. Under any such circumstances how can we expect to grow potatoes and get profitable yields without getting down to selecting our seed from the healthy hills the season before planting, and taking proper care of this seed.

Tip burn was also found to be quite prevalent. This is not a disease, and does not transfer with the seed. It is rather a breaking down of the plant tissue and manifests itself in drying or crinkling up of leaves, beginning usually around the margins and going in. This is caused by hot weather and the age of the plant and its injury consist in the retarding of the growth of the tuber owing to the loss of foliage.

Tip burn is aggravated by the potato leaf hopper, a small green hopper that infests the under side of the leaf. This insect sucks the juices from the leaf and aid in the ready breaking down process. The only remedy for him is a nicotine solution, black leaf forty for instance. It is very difficult to reach this insect as it has to be killed by contact, and as it is always on the under side of the leaf it is very hard to reach him.

In counting up the various fields of potatoes and taking account of the number of hills that from one cause or another, nearly all preventable and subject to control, it was found that all the way from 18 to 40 per cent would not bear. This is a serious loss and increases the cost of production to the farmer just that percentage.

Among the recommendations that Mr. Waid gave relative to saving seed was that of going into the field and digging the best looking hills of the Potosky Golden Russet type, and where they were found to produce a goodly number of marketable potatoes free from disease to save these for seed. He also recommended the planting of a seed plot with seed thus procured, about July 1st, and planting close together, thus procuring potatoes of small size, to be dug early before maturity. The best seed is procured from immature potatoes. This plot to be rogued of hills not true to type, also diseased hills. The seed thus procured to be planted whole. He also recommended planting in drill about 15 to 18 inches in the drill, the drills to be 3 feet apart. He also recommended practice of green manuring, i. e. to take the potatoes from the cellar or pit three or four weeks before planting, or just as soon as it can be safely done on account of freezing and spreading them on a barn floor, or somewhere where they would get the light. Among good potato growers there is a long argument about this practice. It has been demonstrated to be the proper thing to do and the time for arguing about it has passed.

Owing it is thought to a lack of that practice there is a large amount of poor stands in Michigan this year. Over most of the potato growing portion of the state the ground was very hot and dry at planting time and uneven stands are the rule, owing undoubtedly to the action on the dry hot soil on the cut surface of the seed, taken fresh from cellar or pit.

Another thing that came to light in examining fields was that the potatoes of the Potosky type had not as much disease as those of the Green Mountain type. Also they had not succumbed as much to tip burn, and that the leaf hopper were not so plentiful on them, all tending to make them the more desirable on these types of soils.

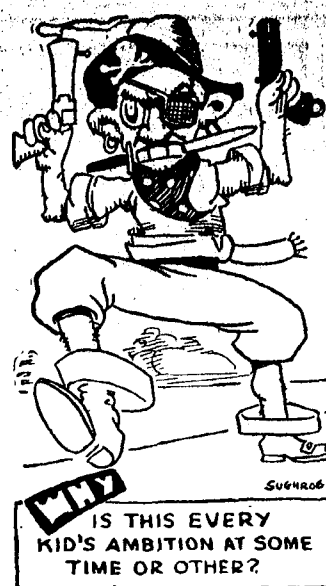

The County Agent expects to visit all of the demonstration plots before digging time and give to each individual the information conveyed by Mr. Waid.

The County Agent has procured two sets of slides for stereopticon lectures, viz. "Growing and Handling of the Irish Potato" and "Green Manuring." These two subjects are correlated and should be of great interest to the farmers of this vicinity, as potatoes are bound to be the money crop here. He will be among the communities with these lectures as soon as possible.

At the time of writing this the County Agent and several of the Roscommon County farmers are about to take an observation trip on the matter of silos, they having become convinced that feeding forty dollar hay when they can raise as much food value for ten dollars is a losing proposition and are determined to let no more time elapse before beginning to get prepared with silos.
